School of Rock June 8, 7 p.m.

Come listen to talented students of teacher Ross Allured. Ross has combined his students into several bands performing music from the 60's to modern rock. You have enjoyed some of these students as part of Open Mic before but tonight is their night. . . Don't miss these young stars of tomorrow . . . And today!

Ann Rowland June 15, 7 p.m.

"AnnMarie's music gravitates toward her values and experience: the simple life of community and friends, tradition and constancy, love and companionship, loss and reflection. She plays guitar, lap dulcimer, mouth bow and claw hammer banjo. Whether its an original song about the old family piano up on the auction block, or something borrowed from the great canon of musical Americana, her voice resonates with the strength and insight of someone who has lived both glory, and sorrow, and has reflected, prevailed, and gained."

Monte Pride June 22, 7 p.m.

Monte Pride is a Lansing-born, Lansing-based singer-songwriter & fingerstyle guitarist whose songs recall the delicate vocals of Simon & Garfunkel, with guitar-work reminiscent of Nick Drake and The Tallest Man on Earth. He blends haunting melodies with vivid lyricism, bringing stories of love, loss, and longing to life in a complex array of healing, soul stirring song."
